90s DLC works now, so the package is complete. Good add on for some game customization.

X Games is pretty fun, but only adds a few hours of gameplay.

Rocket Wings is also decent, but I rarely play that sport.

All this for $15 is not too bad.

I do think though that Ubisoft needs to revamp a few things in this game instead of making more DLCs like this. For example, make a community tab so we can try other players challenges, which could make this game very replayable. It feels very limiting to only get new dev selected/made challenges every so often, and it feels even more spread thin since there's a bunch of different sports in the game now. Skiing and snowboard should be the main focus since its the most fleshed out. The fact that the only way to try other player's challenges is by getting into a party with them and limiting the shared challenge to only one per person makes me feel like they are gate keeping content for no reason. Also, why not keep the new monthly/weekly challenges permanently in the game anyway?

Then, the ringing ears sound effect when your about to fall is one of the most annoying things ever. Please make an option to turn it off so the only thing we hear is the heartbeat SFX instead, that'd be a lot more cooler and easier on the ears. The ringing is very distracting when you're trying to beat a challenge.

I do like the fact that they added a live PVP mode, and are making adjustments to it semi regularly. Right steps right there.
